Description

The Oxford dementia bedroom furniture collection is designed exclusively for care home residents living with the condition. Dementia is a sensitive subject, and those living with the illness often require an additional level of care. At Alpha Furniture we aim to assist you in doing so, by introducing a range of furniture designed specifically for dementia sufferers. Featuring cut outs in doors and drawers, and open sections, residents can quickly and easily identify items and possessions, helping to minimise confusion and anxiety. Memory boxes are a great way to provide a history of the individual, with memorabilia from throughout their lives on display. They also help to provide carers and visitors with valuable opportunities for interaction.

These UK-made units are glued dowelled and screwed for additional strength, vital in a care and residential home setting. Drawer boxes are metal sided rather than plastic, and each unit has a solid back. Having been designed specifically for contract use, all surfaces are melamine and very easy to clean. Each piece is hand finished with soft rounded corners, tested to BS 4875 Part 7 Level 4 and BS 4875 Part 8.
